

Benefits of Earning the CPCE Designation

- A mark of distinction in the industry. “CPCE” will be displayed after your name and you will earn a certificate to display in your office. This leads to recognition of your expertise to employers, consumers and colleagues.
- Increase your potential for higher compensation. Earning the CPCE designation will show that you are serious about your career, which can lead to new job opportunities.
- Demonstrate commitment to the catering and events industry. Your peers and clients will respect your dedication to educating yourself about your craft.
- Continually improve and refine your skills. Maintaining your certification requires regularly participating in continuing education. More than 90 percent of CPCEs surveyed said the certification increased their confidence level at work.
- Overall, you will enhance your potential for career success by improving your professional performance, instilling self and client confidence and widening your job opportunities.